

From Contented Cows
THERE'S CREAM
IN EVERY DROP
Sole Agents:
CONNELL BROS. CO., LTD.
HONG KONG & S. CHINA

China Mail

THE OLDEST - ESTABLISHED NEWSPAPER IN THE FAR EAST

EST. 1845.

No. 28,886

HONG KONG, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1934. PRICE $3.00 Per Month

ROOSEVELT LEANING MORE TOWARDS FEDERAL CREDIT CONTROL

Attired in flowing Hindu costume and sandals, Miss Madeline Slade, who discarded a high position in British society to become a disciple of Mahatma Gandhi, is pictured in Washington after conferring with Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House. Miss Slade, known to Hindu patriots as Mirabai, asserted she had an "interesting talk" with Mrs. Roosevelt.

DISASTROUS FIRE SWEEPS WUCHOW RIVERSIDE AREA THIRTY BUILDINGS DESTROYED

WESLYAN MISSION THREATENED

[From Our Own Correspondent]
Wuchow, Nov. 16.

An extensive section of a river front district was threatened by a fierce conflagration which destroyed over 30 buildings here to-day. Only after many hours of desperate work were the flames curbed.

The fire broke out in a house in the Saam Kwok Shui district, near the banks of the Foo River and the West River, and swept with remarkable rapidity to adjoining premises, which were mostly residences. A fire-float was rushed to the scene, but by the time of its arrival the flames had obtained a firm hold on several buildings. Land fire-fighting appliances were transported by lighters, from the mainland.

Dozens of hose lines were brought into play, the firemen concentrating their efforts on keeping the fire within the blazing area. For a time the Weslyan Mission was menaced, but the outbreak was brought under control before the flames could reach the building.

The greater part of the property destroyed consisted of residences. The cause of the fire is not yet known.

RED SITUATION IN SZECHUEN

General Liu Reporting To Nanking

Nanking, To-day.
General Hsiang, the Szechuan Commander-in-Chief, is due here in one or two days' time to confer with the Government leaders on the Communist situation in his province.

He intends to return to Szechuan immediately the discussions are completed.—Reuter.

WEATHER FORECAST

Cloudy, with probably some rain, and fresh northeast winds, was the weather forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory this morning.

SIGNIFICANCE SEEN IN NEW APPOINTMENT UNPOPULAR WITH THE ORTHODOX PARTY

N.R.A. IS HIBERNATING

It is expected that serious, fundamental changes will be made in several Governmental administrations and corporations, particularly in the Public Works Administration, states a special Washington wire to Messrs. S. E. Levy and Company.

The appointment of Mr. Eccles, Utah banker, to the Federal Reserve Board is unpopular with the orthodox party, who construe this move as a further example of the President's decision for more direct control of credit through the Federal Reserve Board. Mr. Eccles is a supporter of "the recovery pump being primed rapidly" and he is also a staunch believer in Governmental control of credit.

Five out of eight members of the Federal Reserve Board are in favour of President Roosevelt's policies.

THE NATIONAL RECOVERY ADMINISTRATION IS HIBERNATING, AWAITING COURT DECISIONS ON CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTIONS ON WHICH REST ITS SCOPE FOR RENEWED LEGISLATION TO CONCRETE ITS POWERS.

GRAIN PROBE IN AMERICA

Futures Act Violated By Chicago Traders

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934, Received November 19, 8.02 a.m.)

Washington, To-day.

The Grain Futures Commission has suspended the trading privileges of the Chicago Board of Trade members, Messrs. Adrian Ettinger, Swing, and Brand, and also cited Mr. Thomas Howell, a noted trader, to appear at an investigation on January 14.

All accused are charged with violating the Futures Act.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

AMERICA LOOKING TO RUSSIA

Better Hopes For Trade Entertained

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934, Received November 19, 8.02 a.m.)

Washington, To-day.

The Secretary of the American Federation of Labour, Mr. William H. Green, on Saturday declared that Russia had been recognised by the United States for a year, but expected the trade boom had so far, not materialised. Both countries were still groping for a solution of the tangled problems.

The prospective Russian market, however, was beginning to figure importantly in the heavy industrial revival calculations.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

MEXICAN GOLD MINE RE-OPENED

Rich Yield Seen

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934, Received November 19, 8.02 a.m.)

Washington, To-day.

Dr. W. F. Gosha, Curator of Minerals at the Smithsonian Institution, has returned from Mexico bringing samples of gold ore yielding as much as 10,000 grams per ton from the Old Conquistador mines which were recently reopened.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

It is generally felt that President Roosevelt is inclining towards more conservative ideas in his treatment of the various problems confronting him, and that he is seeking a course which will be more acceptable to the conservative party. He is also beginning to put the muzzle on boisterous trouble-makers.

It is thought possible that the Government may seek an international cotton convention so as to safeguard the interests of the American cotton industry during the present period of the crop restrictions.

Until consumption catches up with supply it is considered unlikely that a state of inflationary price condition can be attained.

ROOSEVELT ON POWER RATES

Denies Government Has Advantage

Birmingham, Alabama, To-day.—While en route to Warm Springs, President Roosevelt made a speech here yesterday.

He made a denial that federal power rates were below private rates because the Government does not pay taxes.

He said the Government was demonstrating proper business methods to reduce rates and increase sales of appliances, thus greatly increasing consumption.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

Washington, To-day.

The Secretary of the American Federation of Labour, Mr. William H. Green, on Saturday declared that Russia had been recognised by the United States for a year, but expected the trade boom had so far, not materialised. Both countries were still groping for a solution of the tangled problems.

The prospective Russian market, however, was beginning to figure importantly in the heavy industrial revival calculations.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

Rich Yield Seen

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934, Received November 19, 8.02 a.m.)

Washington, To-day.

Dr. W. F. Gosha, Curator of Minerals at the Smithsonian Institution, has returned from Mexico bringing samples of gold ore yielding as much as 10,000 grams per ton from the Old Conquistador mines which were recently reopened.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

COMMUNIST STRONGHOLD CAPTURED

Yutu Falls For First Time Since Taken In 1930

Nanking, To-day.
Reports from Nanchang state that Government troops yesterday captured Yutu, in South Kiang, which has been in the hands of Communists since 1930.—Reuter.

SHING MUN DAM FATALITY

Coolie Caught By Rock Avalanche

San Chi, a 34-year-old Chinese coolie, was fatally injured at the Shing Mun Dam yesterday at 4:15 p.m., when he was partially buried by a fall of rocks.

Sam Chi sustained multiple injuries to which he succumbed two hours later at the Kowloon Hospital.

WHITE HIBISCUS SLAYING

Doke To Be Given New Trial

Woodland, Cal.
The story of the "lovely bride of the White Hibiscus" will be told in court again on December 4, when Judson Doke comes up for trial for the slaying of his wife's lover, Lamar Hollingshead, 23-year-old University sophomore and poet.

Because a jury of farmers, after 30 hours, could not determine whether he was guilty or innocent, Doke, a city official of San Leandro and world war veteran, will face a second jury who are expected to decide whether he was justified in taking the west's stern unwritten law into his hands by shooting Hollingshead, according to the prosecution, "like a dog." Doke's first trial was declared a mistrial after the jury selected failed to reach a verdict.—United Press.

U.S. HIGH-GRADE BONDS CONSIDERED OVER-HIGH

New York, To-day.—Some Wall Street observers had the opinion that high-grade bonds appear over-high in view of the announcement of the Government's "Banning" programme.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STABILISATION

Permanent Fund Now Being Urged

TO INSURE STABLE DOLLAR AFTER UNREVEALED MONETARY PROGRAMME CONCLUDES

SPECIAL TO CHINA MAIL
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934, Received November 19, 8.02 a.m.)

Washington, To-day.

It is learned that United States Government economists are studying the possibility of the establishment of a permanent United States foreign exchange stabilisation fund to insure a stable dollar after the unrevealed United States monetary programme has been completed.

It is reported that the Administration may possibly ask for authority to make the present U.S. $2,000,000,000 stabilisation fund permanent in as much as experts believe that there is little possibility that world currencies can be put on a permanent basis by January 30 1935, which is the maximum date on which the stabilisation fund can exist.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

NEW NAZI DRIVE IN GERMANY

Training For Young Journalists

PRESS DEPENDABLE INSTRUMENT

Berlin, To-day.

A sum of £16,000 has been set aside to train young journalists on Nazi lines, stated the Minister of Propaganda, Dr. Joseph Goebbels, at the first annual convention of the German Press, which yesterday telegraphed to Reichsfuehrer Hitler stating that the German Press is now a dependable instrument of the National Socialist State.—Reuter.

TEMPORARY DEPOSIT INSURANCE EXTENSION?

Washington, To-day.—Senator

Fletcher, Chairman of the United States Senate Banking and Currency Committee, has advocated the extension of the temporary deposit insurance for a year and has urged a further study of the banking programme.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

The Public is reminded that tomorrow at 7 p.m. there will be a short test on the lines of an air raid. The alarm will be given by three maroons (as discharged with No. 10 Typhoon signal), followed by three rocketts, and by ships' sirens. Street lamps and certain other conspicuous lights will be extinguished.

If conditions are favourable, one or more aeroplanes will fly over to observe the effect, and these will be spotted by search lights.

Alarm Will Be Given At 7 P.M.

THANKSGIVING DAY DECLARED HOLIDAY

President's Speech

Washington, Nov. 15.

President Roosevelt's annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation, issued to-day, called upon the American people to "dedicate ourselves anew to the work for the betterment of mankind."

The President said this should be done "with gratitude in our hearts for what already has been accomplished."

Thanksgiving Day, November 29,

was proclaimed a national holiday as usual.—Associated Press.

CUMBERLAND ARRIVES

H.M.S. Cumberland of the Fifth

Cruiser Squadron, commanded by Captain C. H. Benson, D.S.O., arrived to Hong Kong yesterday from Shanghai.

LADIES' AUTUMN FOOTWEAR

NOW ON SALE NOW ON

KOWLOON SHOP ONLY:

PAUL RENNET et CIE

Corner of Austin — Nathan Roads, Kowloon

ANTARCTIC STRAIT

BYRD CONFIRMS EXISTENCE DURING SEVEN-HOUR FLIGHT

Concealed Water-Borne Ice Ridge

50,000 SQUARE MILES EXPLORED

New York, To-day.

The famed explorer, Rear-Admiral Richard Byrd, has obtained evidence tending to confirm the existence of a wide strait dividing the Antarctica.

A strait of concealed water-borne ice lies between the Queen Maud and Edsel Ford ranges.

Rear-Admiral Byrd, in a seven-hour flight from his expedition base at Little America, explored 50,000 square miles.—Reuter.

An earlier message, wirelessed from Little America to New York, stated that after waiting for a month for clear weather, Rear Admiral Byrd, accompanied by four companions, departed from the Antarctic Expedition's base at Little America last Friday on the first exploration flight since last summer.

Rear Admiral Byrd and his companions flew over a hundred miles in the direction of the South Pole.

PAN-AMERICAN READY FOR TEST FLIGHT TO EAST

CLIPPER PLANE FOR CHINA HOP

PLANS FOR JANUARY

Washington, Nov. 14.

It was learned to-day that the Pan-American Airways will make a test air-mail flight from San Francisco to China, via Honolulu and Manila, shortly after January 1 with the recently developed clipper transport plane.

It was also understood that Pan-American was prepared to make test flights over the northern route.

The Post Office department, however, was reported favouring the Honolulu-Manila route.

J. T. Trippe, President of Pan-American, recently exchanged correspondence with Postmaster-General James Farley on the possibilities of trans-oceanic "clippers" mail and passenger flights, requesting the support of Mr. Farley's department.

(Continued on Page 18)

THANKSGIVING DAY DECLARED HOLIDAY

President's Speech

Washington, Nov. 15.

President Roosevelt's annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation, issued to-day, called upon the American people to "dedicate ourselves anew to the work for the betterment of mankind."

The President said this should be done "with gratitude in our hearts for what already has been accomplished."

Thanksgiving Day, November 29,

was proclaimed a national holiday as usual.—Associated Press.

MAIL SCHEDULES

The Postmaster General announces that as from 1st November the Parcel Post rates to the United Kingdom will be reduced to—3 lb. 7 lb. 11 lb. 22 lb.
$1.40 2.50 3.50 6.00

Private letter-boxes may now be rented at the Kowloon Post Office. Full information regarding them may be obtained from the Officer in charge of that office.

NEW YEAR PARCEL MAIL FOR GREAT BRITAIN.

The New Year Parcel Mail for Great Britain will be closed in the General Post Office at 5 p.m. on the 10th November per s.s. "Chitral." The Public are kindly requested to post early.

This mail is due to arrive at London on the 21st December.

INWARD MAIRS.

FROM EUROPE

Nov. Pyrrhus, (Imperial Airways Service) " 10
Memnon " 28

FROM JAPAN

Nov. Emp. of Asia " 22
Pres. Hoover " 22
Sirdhama " 22
Chichibu Maru " 23
Kitano Maru " 23
Pres. Garfield " 23
Katori Maru " 23
Rio de Janeiro Maru " 23

FROM U.S.A.

Nov. Emp. of Asia " 22
Pres. Hoover " 22
Pres. Garfield " 23

FROM SHANGHAI

Nov. D'Artagnan " 20
Sarpdon " 20
Emp. of Asia " 22
Pres. Hoover " 23
Behar " 23
Chichibu Maru " 23
Pres. Garfield " 23
Katori Maru " 23

FROM STRAITS & INDIA

Nov. Pyrrhus " 20
Alipore " 20
Tokushima Maru " 21
Toba Maru " 21
Hakone Maru " 23

OUTWARD MAIRS.

FOR EUROPE

Nov. D'Artagnan (Marseilles Air Service) " 20
Closes: Reg. 10 a.m. Ord. 10.30 a.m.
Pres. Lincoln (via Siberia and San Francisco) " 20
Closes: Reg. 4.15 p.m. Ord. 5 p.m.

FOR JAPAN

Nov. Pres. Lincoln " 20

FOR AMERICA

Nov. Pres. Lincoln " 20

FOR MANILA

Nov. Emp. of Asia " 22
FOR SHANGHAI " 20
FOR STRAITS & INDIA " 20

Nov. D'Artagnan " 20

VIA SIBERIA—Letters and post-cards for Europe and South America are forwarded "via Siberia" if so superscribed.

REGISTERED and PARCEL MAIRS are closed 15 minutes earlier than the time given above unless otherwise stated, and where mails are advertised to close at or before 9 a.m., registered and parcel mails are closed at 5 p.m. on the previous day.

AIR MAIL—Imperial Airways via Singapore, Bandung—Amsterdam via Singapore, Saigon—Marseille, via Saigon. Correspondence for Europe and intermediate countries will be accepted for transmission by these Services. Rates and all particulars are shown in the schedules exhibited at the General Post Office and Kowloon Office. All letters etc. must be marked "By Air Mail" and handed in at the General Post Office. Unless superscribed for despatch by a special air mail service, correspondence will be forwarded by the first service available.

The Woman's Page

Women In The Fifties Need Make-Up Just The Same

An Essential Of Fashion And Grooming

POWDER IMPORTANT

London. With average physical fitness, and a little of the new "mature" make-up, the woman of responsible years can sing with the poet: "Grow old along with me; the best is yet to be."

For growing old gracefully has a new meaning. Moreover, it is not associated with lavender and old lace, beautiful as they both are.

The new order of elderly grace means clothes of individual taste and style and cosmetics to give point to the appearance.

The older generation of mothers and grandmothers are often "exhibition pieces" at our family and social parties.

Yet for some reason of prejudice or pride, many women are not yet fully persuaded that make-up is an asset of fashion and almost as essential as a manicure or a hair wave.

At this time of the year London is full of representative women in the fifties. Some are on holiday from all parts of the world; others are home for a holiday; others come from important or obscure part of the British Isles.

It is an opportune time for the beauty parlours to introduce the latest rouges and powders for older women and to make an effort to spread the habit of make-up among them.

They Ought To Know.

Those who are still hesitating ought to be impressed by news on the subject, from specialists, who are themselves seniors and lovely to look at.

They regard make-up for the woman who has passed her fiftieth birthday as an essential of fashion and grooming. But it is more delicate and intricate an art than for those of immature years.

So that there shall be no mistake in colour "harmonies and perfect powder tones," these specialists blend powders and rouges to match the complexion of their "grown-up" clients. They will teach them the art of restraint in the application of cosmetics, as well as professional secrets, in make-up.

It is almost impossible for an elderly woman to look smart in her smartest hats and frocks unless her cheeks have a slight artificial warmth. But the placing of the rouge must be done with a light touch.

Every other complexion needs restoration with a skin lotion for softening, strengthening and re-fining. The dark coarse types would be better with a firming astringent. Others need developing tonic oil as a powder base.

A film of vanishing cream will help if the skin is heavy and given to moisture.

Then apply the rouge as the expert does it, with the cushion of the finger—just a smudge as a beginning over the rounded part of the cheeks.

Powder Is Important.

Either powder, cream or liquid rouge may be used. The colour is more significant. Usually a bright one is successful whether it carries the orange or the bluered tones.

Work your "smudge" upwards to the outer edge of the eyes and towards the outer curve of the face.

To suggest roundness in a thin face, or to foil a large or otherwise unattractive nose, keep the colour away from the middle of the face.

Power is more important than any other question in cosmetics for the older woman.

It must be chosen to improve the texture and tint of the skin. While the wrong shade can have a devastating effect, a good powder is most beautifying.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

Watch Your Eyes.

Older women ought to be more particular about their eyes and perhaps less about their finger nails, if there must be a choice.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and best shade in your complexion. Avoid a too dark powder, which emphasises sagging, or a too white one, which is apt to blemish a good skin.

The daily eye-bath is a necessity for them. An occasional tonic treatment helps to disperse wrinkles and to lift the expression.

Where there are shaggy or heavy brows, a tidyng treatment is indicated, but neither a hard line nor a too-fine one will be attractive.

Use an eyelash brush, even if you do not dip it in mascara, but as lashes and brows are meant to outline beautiful features of the face, mildly define the features, and add expression and freshness to the eyes.

Find one of those original "mature" ones which blend with the deepest and

The China Mail

Annual subscription, excluding postage abroad, H.K.$36, payable in advance.

Overland China Mail.

Published every Thursday. Annual subscription, H.K.$18, including postage $15, payable in advance.

Published by

The Newspaper Enterprise Ltd.
Printers & Publishers,
No. 3a, Wyndham Street,
Hong Kong. TELEPHONE 20022

London Offices:—S. H. Bywaters & Co., Ltd., 7, Garrick Street, London, W.C.2.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Twenty-five words three insertions prepaid $1.50. Every additional word five cents for three insertions.

All replies under this heading must be called for.

WANTED KNOWN.

ENGLISH CORRESPONDENCE and BOOKKEEPING undertaken under European Supervision. For terms write Box 769 c/o "China Mail."

PEARLS, GENUINE CULTURED, PEARLS Mr. KODAK arrives on or about the 23rd inst. Watch for opening date of PEARL EXHIBITION at Messrs. KOMOR & KOMOR.

FOR SALE.

HONG KONG DOLLAR DIRECTORY. On sale at all bookstalls and at the offices of the Publishers, 3a, Wyndham Street.

Just Received POSTAGE STAMPS CATALOGUE for 1935

Stanley Gibbons
1st Part British Empire $4.50
2nd Part Foreign Countries $7.00
Whole World $10.50
Simplified $5.50
Scott Stamp and Coin Co. $8.00
Yvert et Tellier Champion $8.00

GRACA & CO., Dealers in Postage Stamps, Religious Goods, Garden Seeds, Post Cards etc.

No. 10 Wyndham Street,
P. O. Box No. 620. Hong Kong.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

DENTISTS

MR. HARRY FONG, DENTIST,
DR. S. L. KWONG, Dental Surgeon HAVE NOW REMOVED
To

King's Theatre Bldg., 5th Floor.
Telephone 21255
Consulting Hours 9 till 1 and 2 till 6.

ENGINEERS & SHIPBUILDERS

W. S. BAILEY & CO., LTD.,
Kowloon Bay.
Shipbuilders & Repairers. Call Flag "L"
Sole Agents for Kelvin Motors.

OPTICIANS

THE HONG KONG OPTICAL COMPANY,
Phone 22222
53, Queen's Road Central.

CENTRAL THEATRE

SHOWING TO-DAY
AT 2.30, 5.15, 7.15 & 9.30

THIS IS THE PICTURE THAT OVERSHADOWS ANY ONE EVER MADE!

THE LEGEND OF SIEGFRIED"

COLOSSAL CLIMAX OF ACHIEVEMENT.

with MUSIC & SOUND

An Ufa super special.

A COMPLETE Printing Service LOW PRICES

THE NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE LTD.
CHINA MAIL BLDG. ... 3A WYNDHAM ST.

Now On Sale

CHINA YEAR BOOK 1934

The China Year Book should be immediately accessible to the staff of every office in China. Its 850 pages cover the whole field of political, financial and commercial activities in easy reference form, and makes its absence a definite handicap as much to the small trader as to the diplomat. Very little of the contents of this edition has appeared in previous issues. In the current issue, among other important documents, will be found:

The Rajchman Report
Draft Permanent Constitution
Banking Laws
Manchurian Railways
Sino-Japanese Issues

Price $30
Postage
China 5s cts.
Hongkong 8s cts.
Abroad $2.00

and special articles on currency, communications, cost of living, trade prospects and statistics, the Chinese Government, public justice, telegraph, telephone and postal information, and a Who's Who of nearly 4,000 prominent Chinese personalities.

The China Year Book is not written by one man, but by a number of the principal Foreign and Chinese authorities on the various subjects dealt with. Among them are:

Father E. Gherzi: The Climate of China
Mr. E. Kahn: Currency and Banking
Father P. M. D'Elia: R. C. Missions
Dr. T. C. Chen: Labour Problems
Dr. M. T. Z. Yuan: Greater Shanghai
Mr. Owen Lattimore: Chinese Turkestan and Mongolia
Rev. C. L. Hoynton: Protestant Missions
Dr. J. B. Grant: Public Health

The Editor, who is himself a leading authority on Chinese affairs, is the author of several works on China. Editor of "Oriental Affairs" and has lived for over thirty years in the country.

On Sale at Messrs. Kelly & Walsh, Ltd., Hong Kong. or from the printers and publishers:
NORTH CHINA DAILY NEWS & HERALD, LIMITED
17, The Bund, Shanghai.

WHY LOVER CLIMBED LADDER

One Way Of Avoiding Burglar Alarm

UNWELCOME VISIT

Screams at midnight in a Bucks village followed an unwelcome visit by a young married man to the bedroom of a housekeeper with whom previously he had been on terms of close friendship.

There was a sequel to the incident at Aylesbury Assizes when Roland James Shirley, 27, farm labourer, of Amersham, was charged with burglary with intent to commit an offence against Brunhilde Sitto and with an assault upon her.

Mr. Fitzwalter Butler, for the prosecution, accepted a plea of guilty to the assault only, and explained that Miss Sitto was an Austrian subject, aged twenty, and was acting as a housekeeper at Gerrards Cross.

She was living alone towards the end of July, and informed Shirley of the fact. She had made his acquaintance casually a few days before.

There was a certain amount of philandering going on to which Miss Sitto offered no objection. Shirley used to take her for a ride on his bicycle, and on the Saturday night prior to the offence he obtained admission to the house by means of a ladder.

Miss Sitto allowed him to remain four or five hours, and offered no resistance to certain advances. Then she made him a cup of tea and lent him her bicycle.

Late at night on August 4, or early on the following morning, Shirley visited the house when inflamed with drink, and by mounting a ladder and then climbing the stack-pipe and smashing the bathroom window he got into the place.

Out on the Stairs

He went to Miss Sitto's bedroom, his hand bleeding from the broken glass. She resisted his advances to the utmost, and during a struggle on the stairs her nightdress was torn.

She ran out of the house screaming, and after Shirley had disappeared she put the burglar alarm bell on.

Then she went to a neighbour's and made a complaint, and Shirley was arrested three days later. Det. Sergt. Rawlins, of Gerrards Cross, reported that Shirley was a married man, with a child of three years. He was serving in the Hussars when he was sentenced to 112 days' imprisonment for theft, and afterwards was discharged from the Army. There had been several convictions for larceny and false pretences in civil life.

Mr. Roger Winn, in mitigation, urged that Shirley was entitled to some credit for sparing the young woman the ordeal of going into the witness-box.

Whatever happened on the night of August 4, it was clear that the man had previously received a great deal of encouragement. He had declared that Miss Sitto had told him he could always get into the house through a bedroom window as there was a burglar alarm on one of the doors.

Justice's Comment

Probably she changed her demeanour towards him on the night he broke in, because he was under the influence of drink.

Mr. Justice Charles: I don't know, because I have never tried, but can you climb a stack-pipe while you are drunk?

Counsel: I am not suggesting that he was incapable of knowing what he was doing. Miss Sitto told him that he could use the ladder, and pointed out where he would find it.

Counsel added that it was not a case of a man molesting a woman with whom he had had no previous association.

The judge observed that he would not take any notice of Shirley's record for dishonesty. There were peculiar circumstances associated with his entering the house, and no doubt a great deal of encouragement had been given him.

What he did, however, was wrong, and wicked, and he would be imprisoned with hard labour for four months.

WHY LOVER CLIMBED LADDER

One Way Of Avoiding Burglar Alarm

UNWELCOME VISIT

Screams at midnight in a Bucks village followed an unwelcome visit by a young married man to the bedroom of a housekeeper with whom previously he had been on terms of close friendship.

There was a sequel to the incident at Aylesbury Assizes when Roland James Shirley, 27, farm labourer, of Amersham, was charged with burglary with intent to commit an offence against Brunhilde Sitto and with an assault upon her.

Mr. Fitzwalter Butler, for the prosecution, accepted a plea of guilty to the assault only, and explained that Miss Sitto was an Austrian subject, aged twenty, and was acting as a housekeeper at Gerrards Cross.

She was living alone towards the end of July, and informed Shirley of the fact. She had made his acquaintance casually a few days before.

There was a certain amount of philandering going on to which Miss Sitto offered no objection. Shirley used to take her for a ride on his bicycle, and on the Saturday night prior to the offence he obtained admission to the house by means of a ladder.

Miss Sitto allowed him to remain four or five hours, and offered no resistance to certain advances. Then she made him a cup of tea and lent him her bicycle.

Late at night on August 4, or early on the following morning, Shirley visited the house when inflamed with drink, and by mounting a ladder and then climbing the stack-pipe and smashing the bathroom window he got into the place.

Out on the Stairs

He went to Miss Sitto's bedroom, his hand bleeding from the broken glass. She resisted his advances to the utmost, and during a struggle on the stairs her nightdress was torn.

She ran out of the house screaming, and after Shirley had disappeared she put the burglar alarm bell on.

Then she went to a neighbour's and made a complaint, and Shirley was arrested three days later. Det. Sergt. Rawlins, of Gerrards Cross, reported that Shirley was a married man, with a child of three years. He was serving in the Hussars when he was sentenced to 112 days' imprisonment for theft, and afterwards was discharged from the Army. There had been several convictions for larceny and false pretences in civil life.

Mr. Roger Winn, in mitigation, urged that Shirley was entitled to some credit for sparing the young woman the ordeal of going into the witness-box.

Whatever happened on the night of August 4, it was clear that the man had previously received a great deal of encouragement. He had declared that Miss Sitto had told him he could use the ladder, and pointed out where he would find it.

Counsel added that it was not a case of a man molesting a woman with whom he had had no previous association.

The judge observed that he would not take any notice of Shirley's record for dishonesty. There were peculiar circumstances associated with his entering the house, and no doubt a great deal of encouragement had been given him.

What he did, however, was wrong, and wicked, and he would be imprisoned with hard labour for four months.

WHY LOVER CLIMBED LADDER

One Way Of Avoiding Burglar Alarm

UNWELCOME VISIT

Screams at midnight in a Bucks village followed an unwelcome visit by a young married man to the bedroom of a housekeeper with whom previously he had been on terms of close friendship.

There was a sequel to the incident at Aylesbury Assizes when Roland James Shirley, 27, farm labourer, of Amersham, was charged with burglary with intent to commit an offence against Brunhilde Sitto and with an assault upon her.

Mr. Fitzwalter Butler, for the prosecution, accepted a plea of guilty to the assault only, and explained that Miss Sitto was an Austrian subject, aged twenty, and was acting as a housekeeper at Gerrards Cross.

She was living alone towards the end of July, and informed Shirley of the fact. She had made his acquaintance casually a few days before.

There was a certain amount of philandering going on to which Miss Sitto offered no objection. Shirley used to take her for a ride on his bicycle, and on the Saturday night prior to the offence he obtained admission to the house by means of a ladder.

Miss Sitto allowed him to remain four or five hours, and offered no resistance to certain advances. Then she made him a cup of tea and lent him her bicycle.

Late at night on August 4, or early on the following morning, Shirley visited the house when inflamed with drink, and by mounting a ladder and then climbing the stack-pipe and smashing the bathroom window he got into the place.

Out on the Stairs

He went to Miss Sitto's bedroom, his hand bleeding from the broken glass. She resisted his advances to the utmost, and during a struggle on the stairs her nightdress was torn.

She ran out of the house screaming, and after Shirley had disappeared she put the burglar alarm bell on.

Then she went to a neighbour's and made a complaint, and Shirley was arrested three days later. Det. Sergt. Rawlins, of Gerrards Cross, reported that Shirley was a married man, with a child of three years. He was serving in the Hussars when he was sentenced to 112 days' imprisonment for theft, and afterwards was discharged from the Army. There had been several convictions for larceny and false pretences in civil life.

Mr. Roger Winn, in mitigation, urged that Shirley was entitled to some credit for sparing the young woman the ordeal of going into the witness-box.

Whatever happened on the night of August 4, it was clear that the man had previously received a great deal of encouragement. He had declared that Miss Sitto had told him he could use the ladder, and pointed out where he would find it.

Counsel added that it was not a case of a man molesting a woman with whom he had had no previous association.

The judge observed that he would not take any notice of Shirley's record for dishonesty. There were peculiar circumstances associated with his entering the house, and no doubt a great deal of encouragement had been given him.

What he did, however, was wrong, and wicked, and he would be imprisoned with hard labour for four months.

WHY LOVER CLIMBED LADDER

One Way Of Avoiding Burglar Alarm

UNWELCOME VISIT

Screams at midnight in a Bucks village followed an unwelcome visit by a young married man to the bedroom of a housekeeper with whom previously he had been on terms of close friendship.

There was a sequel to the incident at Aylesbury Assizes when Roland James Shirley, 27, farm labourer, of Amersham, was charged with burglary with intent to commit an offence against Brunhilde Sitto and with an assault upon her.

Mr. Fitzwalter Butler, for the prosecution, accepted a plea of guilty to the assault only, and explained that Miss Sitto was an Austrian subject, aged twenty, and was acting as a housekeeper at Gerrards Cross.

She was living alone towards the end of July, and informed Shirley of the fact. She had made his acquaintance casually a few days before.

There was a certain amount of philandering going on to which Miss Sitto offered no objection. Shirley used to take her for a ride on his bicycle, and on the Saturday night prior to the offence he obtained admission to the house by means of a ladder.

Miss Sitto allowed him to remain four or five hours, and offered no resistance to certain advances. Then she made him a cup of tea and lent him her bicycle.

Late at night on August 4, or early on the following morning, Shirley visited the house when inflamed with drink, and by mounting a ladder and then climbing the stack-pipe and smashing the bathroom window he got into the place.

Out on the Stairs

THE CHINA MAIL Sporting Page

SOUTH CHINA GIVE BORDERERS FAREWELL SOCCER TROUTING

BORDERERS UNLUCKY

PENALTY GOAL IN CLOSING MINUTES SEES DRAWN GAME

Podmore's First Game Since October

SHOWS NO LOSS OF FORM

HERBERT & GAMBLE IMPRESS

(By "TOUCH JUDGE")

The Borderers were unlucky not to win their farewell premier league match on Saturday the Club equalising from a penalty in the closing minutes.

Podmore made his first appearance in the champions side since the middle of October and showed that he has lost none of his skill during his indisposition. He played a great game, quite up to the standard one has come to expect from this versatile centre-half. He played his usual wandering game, but not so much as is his wont; he kept too close to Howe to wander very far, and the Club's centre was consequently very much hampered and achieved very little.

Herbert's Great Game

Herbert played a great game at back, one of the finest games put up by a defender this season. Herbert has improved considerably since he was promoted from the second string and gave evidence yesterday that the Borderers have little to fear in that direction when they come to filling in the team after troopers have taken their toll of the battalion's best sportsmen.

Morrison also played a great game, and, with those two stout defenders in front of him Smith was not given much anxiety. Morrison was injured during the latter part of the game and was off the field for about five minutes. He, however, returned, but finished the game limping.

Forty Loses Shooting Boots

The Borderers' forward line put up a fine show, despite Pote-Hunt, who broke up many of their more dangerous moves. Jones, played well, but Forty seemed to have left his direction-finding boots in the barrack-room, for, although he had some fine shots under glorious circumstances, he could not find the net. He shot wide and over but never in.

Dai Davies and Underwood were excellent supports for Podmore. Underwood seeing that Ernie Strange did not get very far, and in this respect he was very successful.

Gamble Outstanding

For the Club Gamble was outstanding at right back. He was in great form, clearing in fine style. Strange was his usual stolid self, and little got by him.

On the whole both teams were excellently served in the defence, both goalkeepers being very well protected by their backs. Pote-Hunt played a fine game and got the better of Jones more often than not in the countless encounters they experienced.

(Continued on Page 5)

DENNIS & CHARLTON QUALIFY

Captain's Cup At Kowloon G.C.

The following qualified for the Kowloon Golf Club's Captain's Cup, played over the week-end:

A. J. Dennis 81-8-78

J. G. Charlton 88-18-78

In the Exeter (Par 100) played over the week-end, W. Albeam down was successful.

Pode will be playing for the Artillery for several more months, contrary to earlier expectations.

Flashes From The Fields

ACEY made his local debut for the Gunners on Saturday—he is newly out from England—but requires a lot more practice. Hopkins and Clancey were the ones who saved the Artillery from a bigger defeat at the hands of the Lincolns.

Higgins and Ridley were the two dangerous Lincolns' forwards—Matthews and Mapple were too weak in front of goal.

Pode's accurate passes were generally wasted by a hesitant forward line, and Ash and Edmundson proved too good when the R.A. forwards looked dangerous.

It is fortunate for the Gunners that Pode will be available for the greater part of the season. Captain Fleetwood, the sports officer, will also be behind them for several unexpected months.

Higgins wound up a good display in the Lincolns' forward line with a "hat trick," but credit for these goals must be given to the clever scheming and good understanding between Ridley and English, the left wing combination.

Chinese Forwards Fail

THOUGH South China "B" beat the Navy, their forwards showed a deplorable lack of finish. The shooting was pitiful.

Young Shui Yick, besides scoring the best goal of the match, was outstanding in the Chinese attack. He was ably supported by Lai Shui Wing, this right wing pair being the only real source of danger to Pepper in the Navy goal.

Li Tak Po was prominent at centre-half, but his splendid efforts bore little fruit as the forwards invariably dallied until it was too late.

The Navy forward line was the weak link in the side. Time and again McGuire paved the way for a good movement only to see it spoiled before it had hardly commenced.

West did exceptionally well at full-back, and Pepper saved some really hot.

The "needle" game between the Club Juniors and Kowloon was a "frost."

Individualism Prevails

WILLIAMS, the only Club player to impress, was starved throughout the game. If the Club learned anything from this game it must have been that individual play throughout cannot be profitable.

Farrow fared fairly well at half-back, and was occasionally given support by Bitter.

Kowloon were also a team of eleven individual, although Wicks' very fine ball control gave him some little excuse.

(Continued on Page 5)

EXETER'S NEW FORWARD

Inside forward, was recently transferred to Exeter City. Scott was in his third season with Norwich, having joined the club from Preston North End.

SPORTING GESTURE BY FUNG

REGIMENT RECEIVE CUP AS MEMENTO

TAM KONG PAK GIVES WIZARD DISPLAY

(By "ROVER")

PLAYING magnificent football in the second half, the South China "A" team defeated the South Wales Borderers by five clear goals in their farewell friendly encounter at the Club ground, yesterday, before a large crowd including His Excellency, the General Officer Commanding the Troops, Major-General O. C. Borrett.

South China were much the better team, and were in a class by themselves in the second half when their forwards gave a wonderful display of ball control and combination to score four really excellent goals.

Tam Kong-pak and Fung King-cheong were brilliant in attack, with Tso Kwei-shing, the right winger, and Ip Pak-wa, on the left flank, standing head and shoulders above everybody.

Li Tin-sang played an inspired game in defence, and with Lau Man proved impregnable, Wong Wing rendering excellent work between the sticks.

The Chinese halves were superb, and in the second half could do nothing wrong. Leung Wing-chiu, in spite of having his head bandaged as a result of a collision while attempting to head the ball, played one of his best games.

Leung In-chiu and Lee Kwok-wai, on his respective right and left flanks, were much too good for the Borderer forwards, and in the second half fed their forwards with some lovely ground passes.

Wong Mei-shun was not very much in the limelight until the latter stages of the game, when he came to the fore by making several glorious openings, including a spectacular goal. For the Borderers, Smith in goal was good, and it was no fault of his that the Chinese forwards beat him on five occasions.

Davies Outstanding

Morrison showed up well in defence, his clever interceptions and head-work being feature of the first half's display. Herbert made a good understudy to Mullane, who filled the inside-right berth with credit.

Davies was the pick of the Borderer halves, his marking of Ip Pak-wa and Tam Kong-pak preventing many goals in the opening half.

Podmore played a lively game in the first half, but was hopelessly at sea in the second, when Fung King-cheong and the Chinese inside forwards did as they pleased.

Duncan and Mullane were the pick of forwards, Jones being erratic throughout, while his passing was deplorable. Forty who led the line tried hard, but lacked inside support.

Opening Goal

South China opened their account within a few minutes of the start when Tam made a glorious opening for Fung King-cheong, the latter racing between Herbert and Morrison to snap up Tam's pass and score with a fast ground shot.

The Borderers retaliated, but, in spite of a good centre by Jones, Mullane, and Forty found themselves badly positioned and unable to make use of the opportunity.

Soon after Duncan flashed across a perfect centre from the left wing, Forty meeting it with his head to graze the bar with Wong out of position.

S. China Depleted

A collision between Leung Wing-chiu and Podmore saw the Chinese pivot leave the field with a scalp wound.

Soon after Lee Kwok-wai was also obliged to leave the field in a dazed condition as the result of a collision.

JOHNSON HAS FIELD DAY AT THE SAINTS' EXPENSE

POLICE ATTACK GO NAP

LISTLESS PLAY BY LOSERS

(By "TOUGH JUDGE")

The premier league soccer encounter yesterday between the Police and St. Joseph's conformed to general expectations, the Police annexing an easy two points after scoring five times without reply.

In the first stage of the game the Saints provided a certain amount of opposition, slight though it was, but after the change-over there was not even the semblance of retaliation.

Johnson, with Stevens and Moss, formed a spearhead which had no great difficulty in penetrating the Saints' defence, and the trio would have added many more goals had it not been for the timely intervention of Wong in the Saints' goal, on numerous occasions. T. Pile and Green piled their forwards with some exceptionally good centres and individually constituted an additional source of worry to the harassed Wong.

The feature of the team, however, was the clever exhibition given by the halves. In breaking up attacks and making openings they worked with the minimum of wasted energy, and their efforts were sustained never relaxing.

Ward Lone Danger

Among the Saints' forwards, Ward was the only player who showed any sense of ball control, and the few Saints raids made were the result of his work.

Elms and Costa exerted their utmost to hold the Police attack, but were, in the main, unsuccessful.

Victor stood up very well to the attack and brought off some nice clearances but it was mainly on Wong Lim that the brunt of the Police attack fell.

The Police went away nicely from the start and a nice shot from Johnson just topped the bar.

Shortly after he gave the Police the lead, neatly deflecting a wing pass. Johnson soon after got his head to a glorious centre from Pile to deflect the ball into the net.

Brooks opened the scoring in the second half when Wong was unsighted. Some minutes later Johnson walked the ball into the net and Moss followed it with a header which had the goalkeeper well beaten.

Police—Perkins; Dowman, C. Pile; Brooks, Gough; Parker, T. Pile; Stevens, Johnson; Moss and Green.

St. Joseph's—Wong Lim; Souza, Victor; C. Fernandes, Costa, Elms; Gill, Lee, Ward, Rocha and L. Fernandes.

(Continued on Page 5)

Saturday's Results

FIRST DIVISION

LINCOLNS 4 ARTILLERY 0

S. CHINA "B" 2 NAVY 2

BORDERERS 2 ATHLETIC 3

KOWLOON 1 CLUB 2

SECOND DIVISION

KOWLOON 1 CLUB 1

ENGINEERS 1 NAVY 0

Athletic (Lincoln) (Abandoned).

THIRD DIVISION

LINCOLNS 4 MEDICALS 0

RAILWAY 0 RADIO 0

R.A.O.C. 1 ENGINEERS 1

BORDERERS 3

SATURDAY'S GOAL-SCORERS

FIRST DIVISION

Higgins (Lincoln) 1

Ho Kar-keung (Athletic) 1

Ridley (Lincoln) 1

Fung King-yip (Athletic) 1

G. White (Kowloon) 1

Elliot (Kowloon) 1

Fowler (Club) 1

Pote-Hunt (Club) 1

Mullane (Borderers) 1

Jones (Borderers) 1

Li Shek-yan (S. China "B") 1

Young Shui Yick (S. China "B") 1

SECOND DIVISION

Glass (Navy) 1

Whitaker (Engineers) 1

Carr (Club) 1

Perera (Kowloon) 1

Turner (Lincoln) 1

Tait (R.A.F.) 1

Gregory (R.A.F.) 1

Purcell (Borderers) 1

Gormley (R.A.O.C.) 1

Singh (Radio) 1

Rush (Lincoln) 1

Reeson (Lincoln) 1

LEAGUE TABLES TO DATE

FIRST DIVISION

P. W. L. D. F. A. Pts

S. CHINA "B" 5 BORDERERS 0

POLICE 5 ST. JOSEPH'S 0

EAST LANCS 2 ARTILLERY 0

EAST LANCS 5 RECREO 0

R.A.S.C. 5 H.K. POLICE 2

THIRD DIVISION

P. W. L. D. F. A. Pts

South China "B" 6 0 2 22 10 14

WARM DRESSING GOWNS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

In plain and checked materials
RED—SAXE BLUE—BEIGE—ROSE from $8.75 up
In all sizes

SLIPPERS FOR CHILDREN

JAEGER SLIPPERS
Fur Trimmed
All Sizes
from $5.25 up

KID MOCCASSINS
Fur Trimmed
from $3.50 up.

BOYS' LEATHER SLIPPERS
$3.95

Children's Department.

LANE, CRAWFORD, LTD.

Phone 28151

Six Lines

MARVELLOUS RECORDING ACHIEVEMENTS

Columbia
New Process RECORDS

"OLD SAM" RECORDS

DX321—BEAT THE RETREAT
DX512—OLD SAM'S PARTY
DX559—RUNCORN FERRY
DX603—THE REEFER

THE ANDERSON MUSIC CO., LTD.

Ice House St.

Tel. 21322

PHOTO SUPPLIES

Cameras Films,
Plates, Papers, etc.
Developing Printing and Enlarging.

At 24 HOURS SERVICE.

PHOTO TAKEN DAY & NIGHT.

THE KWONG KWUI CO., LTD.

Photographers. Tel. 22170.

The "SPALDING" Tennis Ball is the ideal ball for Hong-Kong
DURABLE and CONTROLLABLE

Obtainable from all the leading Sports dealers in the Colony.

SPALDING TENNIS BALLS

Distributors for Hong-Kong
GILMAN and Co.

"BOUNDING BASQUE" GIVEN CLOSE STRUGGLE BUT WINS MIXED DOUBLES TITLE

Sporting Chatter

(By GEOFFREY SIMPSON)

FOR a Monday morning Mr. William Walker, ex-Aston Villa forward and now manager of Sheffield Wednesday, was unusually bright on October 28.

He contributed to the refereeing problem by suggesting that football matches should be controlled by loud-speaker.

Mr. Walker's idea is that referees should be enclosed in a box or loft at an elevation of 50ft. and direct games via a microphone.

From loud-speakers would emerge the shrill blast of a whistle, and the referee's voice would boom: "You are offside, Gallacher!"

The crowd would know what the decisions were for, and the referee would have a complete view of the field of play, argues Mr. Walker.

* * *

Safe And Sound

This is so near to refereeing by wireless that it is really a subject for Collie Knox.

But Mr. Walker is so serious about his plan that he is trying it out in a private practice game at Sheffield to-day. The loud-speaker equipment is installed and Mr. Walker will officiate at the microphone.

A possible drawback is that two extra linesmen will be needed to act as goal judges, but the Referees' Protection Society will surely support the scheme.

For a referee encased in a box 50ft. up would be safe from fruit, bottles, abuse, sarcasm, and other weapons of the referee-baiters on the terraces.

* * *

Flight Fiasco

Dick Corbett's championship match with Johnny King at Manchester expired like a punctured air balloon.

To the consternation of the promoters of King, the Board of Control officials, and the people who had bought tickets, Corbett bumped down the scales at 7st. 11lb.

Very nearly another boxing record. Not just a triflce out in his weight-making calculations, mind you, but five pounds over the bantam poundage of 8st. 6lb.!

* * *

Title Vacant

If there is any satisfaction to be derived from the business it is that people who have refused to see the obvious will, now realise that Corbett is not a bantam-weight.

His title, in fact, was automatically forfeit by his failure to pass the scales. But King will not get it yet, at any rate.

His fight at catch-weights had no bearing on the situation, and if the board follow precedent they will now declare the championship vacant.

King will then be invited to fight another contender for it—which is hard luck for the Manchester puncher.

I am not suggesting he cannot eventually win the championship, but if Corbett had gone into action at 8st. 6lb. he would have been so weak from reducing that King would have beaten him in a trot.

* * *

Newport "Express"

Who is the flying forward H. L. Morgan whom the Newport Rugby team have discovered?

That is the question they are asking in South Wales after the young man's display of express running against Leicester last month.

He scored a try in the first minute by galloping away from everybody. He could give the fastest Leicester back yards start and a beating.

The answer is that Morgan, former vice-captain of Caerleon College team, was an event-time sprinter at school. He was also the school's swiftest 220 yards and half-mile man and won the Victor Ludorum.

If this Rugby is as good as his running he will be the answer to a selector's prayer.

4 LADIES MAKE CASTLE PEAK TRIP

Cycling Club Numbers Augmented

TIME TRIALS POSTPONED

(CONTRIBUTED)

The subsequent effects of their successful tourist time trial held a fortnight ago still show in the attendance on week-end runs of the Hong Kong Cycling Club.

Almost 20 cyclists, including four ladies, put in an appearance on the Club run on the Castle Peak road in their 21st visit to the Cafeteria.

The hard riders put in the morning on individual runs—mainly excusing themselves on the grounds that they were training—visiting such places as Un-long, and Sha-tau-kok on the Mainland, and circuiting the Island.

At 2.15 p.m. a few of the regulars left the Jordan Road Ferry and collected the Shamshui-poo section en route.

An unfavourable wind, allied with the surprising warmth of the afternoon, brought forth a great deal of perspiration, with the result that quite a thirsty crowd made for the Cafeteria at 4 p.m. for tea.

The homeward trek was commenced in two sections at 4.15 p.m. and 4.45 p.m. Better conditions over the final miles, however, saw the first party reach Shamshui-poo a quarter of an hour ahead of the speedmen, who arrived at 5.40 p.m.

The nine new cyclists performed extremely well, and it is hoped to see a great deal of them in the future.

Further Time Trials

Next week-end two runs have arranged, the first leaving Jordan Road Ferry at 10 a.m. under V. Nevins, whose intention it is to reach the Cafeteria by easy stages to suit new riders desirous of an all-day trip. The route will be via Tai-poo and Fanling.

The second party will leave the same rendezvous under G. Whitchurch at 2 p.m. and will meet the social section at the Cafeteria for tea at 4.30 p.m.

The 50 and 100-miles time trials, arranged for the next two weeks, have been postponed a week owing to lack of entries. No further postponement will be made and these trials will definitely start as under:

December 2—50 miles—Start 10 a.m.

December 9—100 miles—Start 9 a.m.

Full details as to the course, etc., may be had on application at No. 23, Tai-poo Road, or No. 32, Johnson Road, Victoria.

QUINNELL SCORES 58 FOR R.F.A.

Tamar All Out For 56

The Royal Fleet Auxiliary (Officers) easily defeated H. M. S. Tamar in a friendly cricket match at Happy Valley on Saturday, Quinell contributing a useful knock of 58 to the winners' total of 110.

The Tamar were dismissed for a meagre 56 against the bowling of Waplington, Quinell, and Noel.

R. F. A. (Officers):—110; Quinell 58; Cooke-Russell 18; Colins 4 for 20; Thoburn 3 for 1; H. M. S. Tamar:—56 (Thoburn 17, Bowden 12, Waplington 4; for 16, Quinell 3 for 7 and Noel 2 for 6).

MULCAHY HITS 66 AT K.C.C.

Lawrence's XI Win By 8 Wickets

F. E. Lawrence's XI easily accounted for F. A. Muir's team by 8 wickets in the Kowloon Cricket Club's Sunday League cricket series yesterday.

Muir's XI: 144 (J. B. Jones 28, F. P. Shimcock 21 not out, F. A. Muir 21, G. L. Stapleton 21, E. F. Fincher 18 for 24, V. A. Durling 8 for 27, B. D. Lay 8 for 44). Lawrence's XI: 266 for 9 (W. Mulcahy 66, N. A. E. McElroy 64, S. J. Jones 26, R. Lee 30, E. D. Lay 23, J. B. Jones 4 for 56).

The answer is that Morgan, former vice-captain of Caerleon College team, was an event-time sprinter at school. He was also the school's swiftest 220 yards and half-mile man and won the Victor Ludorum.

If this Rugby is as good as his running he will be the answer to a selector's prayer.

PARTNERS MARGARET SCRIVEN AT QUEEN'S

(By A. WALLIS MYERS)

London, October 24. THE Covered Courts Championships ended at Queen's yesterday with a victory for France and England in the mixed doubles.

But Jean Borotra and Miss Scriven were hunted all the way home in the final by R. Niki and Mrs. King, and three ten-game sets were required to decide a match that was always keen and close.

EARLIER IN THE DAY THE JAPANESE AND HIS PARTNER HAD LOST A SET TO BILLINGTON AND MISS HOBSON, WHILE BOROTRA AND MISS SCRIVEN HAD WARD OFF SUCCESSFULLY A LATENT RECOVERY OF OLLIFF AND MISS INGRAM, WHO LOOKED AT ONE TIME AS IF THEY WERE GOING DOWN WITHOUT OFFERING A SERIOUS THREAT.

FLASHES FROM THE FIELD

(Continued from Page 4)

Crowds May Vanish

TOYNE, Setters, and McGuiness showed excellent form for the Lincolns in their abandoned game against the Athletic—if crowds cannot be stopped from invading the pitch there seems a likelihood that Valley matches will draw no crowds!

Then Miss Ingram, slowly working into form, made a brilliant forehand shot across the marauding Borotra; Olliff placed one of his lifting drives down the enemy's line—and a few minutes later the British couple were ahead at 5—4 and later at 6—5.

They might have collared the set if Olliff had not mistimed every subsequent shot.

In the final, Niki, although still a little shoulder-tied, showed a great improvement on his form of the previous day. That he only won one of his service games in the whole match is a proof both of his skill in the other games and of Mrs. King's heroic resistance all through.

Mrs. King's Good Drives. Borotra did not play as well as in the previous match, but in Miss King he found a much superior driver to Miss Ingram, one who possessed controlled speed and shrewd judgment for the open hole in the court.

Miss Scriven, too, was variable—not always reliable on the return of service—but when she was en-tranced at the net she cut in to have netted many more. He was well looked after by Dudley, and the Navy made the mistake of making him the pin-head of their attack. O'Donnell was probably the best of the sailor forwards.

Glass scored six times last week. On Saturday he scored two, but should have netted many more. He was well looked after by Dudley, and the Navy made the mistake of making him the pin-head of their attack. O'Donnell was probably the best of the sailor forwards.

"Shiner" Bright played a grand game at centre-half, and Solomon and Horsnell cleared their lines well with powerful kicks which seldom failed in their objective.

Kowloon's Great "Find". KOWLOON seniors are likely to be a very different team in the early part of next year. By that time Wilson should have been able to model the side on the Continental style of soccer. He is their greatest "find" since McKelvie joined the K.F.C.

Notables. Tamar All Out For 56

K. T. Wilson should have been able to model the side on the Continental style of soccer. He is their greatest "find" since McKelvie joined the K.F.C.

Notables. Tamar All Out For 56

The Tamar were dismissed for a meagre 56 against the bowling of Waplington, Quinell, and Noel.

I am not suggesting he cannot eventually win the championship, but if Corbett had gone into action at 8st. 6lb. he would have been so weak from reducing that King would have beaten him in a trot.

* * *

Borderers Unlucky

(Continued from Page 4)

Pole-Hunt countered trick with trick, and eventually proved to be Jones' master. The forwards were quite good, although Howe did not have many opportunities of showing his skill—he was too well marked, and never had a real opportunity of scoring. The wing men were very good; particularly Duncan on the right, who played a fine game. Pownall also was very dangerous, and Herbert had his work cut out to hold him.

Fourteen entries have been received to date for the Colony Open Mixed Doubles tennis championship, which is being held under the auspices of the Chinese Recreation Club, and entries for which close to-day at 6.30 p.m.

Owing to A. E. P. Guest's recent illness, Miss Griffith has entered with W. C. Hung, and they should constitute a very strong pair.

Entries to date are:

Paul Kong and Miss Chung Woon-wai, W. C. Hung and Miss M. Griffiths, H. J. Armstrong and Mrs. J. P. Whitworth, Lee Wai-fong and partner, E. C. Fincher and Miss O. D. Datzel, Lieut. C. Ravenhill and Mrs. Conder, Lieut. and Mrs. D. A. Kavil, H. D. Rundtahl and Mrs. Chin Chin-chiu, S. A. Gray and Miss A. Mackenzie, L. Goldman and Miss R. Hancock, Capt. E. Maude and Mrs. D. Grindale, Lieut. H. D. Tollington and Mrs. Parker, T. A. Pearce and Miss H. Hancock, and Mr. and Mrs. Ho Ke-tau.

Borderers' Unlucky. At the conclusion of the game His Excellency, the General Officer Commanding the Troops, Major-General O. C. Borrett, congratulated both teams on their excellent display and South China on very fine win. He then presented cups to the winning team.

His Excellency then thanked the South China team, on behalf of the Borderers, for the silver trophy they had presented to the Regimental team in memory of this their last encounter. Wong Wing then called for three hearty cheers for the Borderers' team.

Sgt. Gobis (Lines) referred and lined up the following:

South China "A":—Wong Wing (Capt.); Li Tin-ang and Lau Mai, Leung In-chun, Leung Wing-chui, and Lee Kwok-wai; Two Kwai-shing, Wong Mui-shun, Wong Kin-cheung, Tam Kong-pak, and Li Pak-wa.

Borderers:—Cpl. Smith; Cpl. Herbert and Mrs. Morrison; C

LITERARY NOTES

Bible In Many Tongues

Translated Into 678 Languages

"Our Heritage" is the title of the popular report of the British and Foreign Bible Society just published. It is prepared, as usual, by the Rev. John A. Patten, the society's literary superintendent, and not only records the details of the society's operation during the past year, but traces briefly the history of the efforts made to translate the Bible into English from Caedmon and Bede to Wycliffe, Tyndale, and Coverdale, who paved the way for the Authorized Version.

Nearly 11,000,000 Volumes

After making a survey of the society's activities throughout the British Dominions, the report deals with the worldwide distribution of the Scriptures. Last year 10,000,000 volumes of Holy Writ were issued by the society, an increase of 315,733 copies over the previous year. Eleven languages were added to the society's list, of which nine were for Africa, one for Europe (Lettish Romany for gypsies), and one for Oceania. This brings the total number of languages in the society's list to 678. A Union version of St. Mark in Ngalu was issued. New Testaments in two more languages appeared—both for Africa: in Gag and Lunda of Kambwe.

The total circulation for Europe during the year was 1,589,000 volumes, a decrease of 104,000 in comparison with the previous years. In Asia there was once again an immense circulation of the Scriptures—6,708,000 volumes as against 6,956,000 in the preceding 12 months. Although China is still in a disturbed state, 3,002,000 copies were sold, which is 303,000 fewer than in the previous year.

Banned In Russia.

The Bible is still banned in Russia, but the society, which in former times did a great work there "looks forward in faith and hope to the day when the door that is now bolted and barred against the collector will be reopened."

Financially the year has been encouraging. The previous year closed with a deficit of £26,000, and the income amounted to £343,000. The year reviewed ended with a small surplus, £696, while the income increased to £374,000, "a result," says the report, "that makes us hopeful that the tide has turned."

SHORT STORIES

Readable Volume Of Twenty Tales

UNEXPECTED DENOUEMENTS

Business Man.—By Lesley Storm, Hutchinson, London. 7/6.

This collection of twenty short stories makes a readable volume with which to while away odd and otherwise tedious half hours.

The tales are all unexpected in denouement and well told, the plots are good, but there is a failure to make the men and women in them of more interest to the reader than they would be if passed in the street or read about in the newspapers.

On feels no grief for their sorrows or rejoicing at their good fortune, and, therefore, the tales are like good food cooked with insufficient salt. They are good but not as good as they might be.

The best of the lot is "The Murderer's Wife" which begins with the sentence, "The only virtue in this story is its truth."

It does ring true and the angle is new—a star crime-reporter is in process of presenting a murderer's wife to the newspaper public as the public is supposed to like murderers' wives to be presented, and the tory of all his little efforts behind the scenes is quite satisfactorily sordid and Gertie, the wife, so very much what she probably would be in the circumstances.

PROBLEM OF MODERN MARRIAGE

Miss Dorothy Sayers' first novel, "Cat o'Mary," will be published over the name of Joanna Leigh. It deals with the problem of modern marriage.

The perseverance of Anne Sullivan Macy (right) enabled deaf, dumb and blind Helen Keller to learn to speak, to read Braille, to become one of the marvels of the world. Now, Mrs. Macy, stricken blind herself, is being taught Braille by Helen Keller. They are shown on their return from Europe.

Discovery Of "Morte D'Arthur" Ms.
Identity Of Malory Established

VARIANTS FROM CAXTON'S TEXT

The manuscript of the "Morte d'Arthur" was discovered in Winchester College Library recently. The manuscript's first point of interest is that it preserves the colophons of notes of authorship at the end of several of the main divisions, no doubt in exactly the form that these were written by Malory himself. Since Caxton printed the final colophon (missing in our manuscript); we now probably have the complete series, writes the discoverer of the manuscript in an analysis which throws light both on Malory and Caxton. It is curiously satisfactory to have Malory's footnote to Book IX, even though it gives us no new information. Sir Tristram has just arrived with the shield made by Morgan le Fay to spite Arthur:—

So here le levith of this booke, for hit is the first booke of Sir Tristram, de Lyons, and the secunde booke begynith where Sir Tristram smote down kyng Arthur and Sir Uwayne, by cause why he wold not tell them wherefore that shylde was made, but to saye the soth Sir Tristram coude nat tellle the cause for he knew it nat. Similarly one is delighted to discover Malory breaking into French before the story of the Morte proper begins—where the scribe himself feeling that this was an occasion, writes the last two lines of the colophon in scarlet:—

And here I go unto the Morte Arthur and that caused Sir Aggravayne, and here on the oþer syde folowith the moþe pteþous tale of the morte Arthur Sannz Gwerdon. Par Le Shyalere Sir Thomas Mallore Kynght Ihi Ayed Ely Par Vout Bone Mercy. Amen.

Incidentally in our manuscript the next book follows immediately below, so that the phrase "on the oþer syde" is certainly Malory's, referring to his own manuscript. The footnote to the Beaumain's story, Book VII, in Caxton's edition, is particularly interesting.

I pray you all [it runs] that redyf this tale to pray for hym that this wrote that God send hym good deliverance, sone and hastyly. Amen.

Arthur's Identity. The wording of this may, I believe, imply that the book (of which no original is known either in English or French) is in the main Malory's own work; for elsewhere he does not talk of having "written" the book, but of having translated it, "drawn out of the French" or "breffly drawyn out of the French" being his phrases. And further, here occurs the word, already familiar from the last colophon in Caxton's edition, "deliverance." Its meaning is made certain by yet another colophon:—

And this booke [it is Caxton's Book IV.] endyth where Sir Launcelot and Sir Tristram com to courte. Who that wolt make any more lotte hym seke other booke of Kyng Arthur or of Sir Launcelot or Sir Tristram. For this was drawn by a knyght personer Sir Thomas Mallore that God sende hym good recover. Amen.

THIRTEEN YEARS IN ARCTIC

A Tale Of Present Day Doings

BRITON'S EXPERIENCES

North or '53.—By Bertram Barker. Methuen, London. 7/6.

There are many tales that come from the Canadian north, some fantastic, some absurd and some true. This book comes into the latter category.

It is the scrambled story of the experiences of a young Englishman, who spent thirteen years of his life in that great country where slowly the Canadian frontier is being rolled back into the Arctic wastes.

The story is scrambled for it keeps to a fairly accurate account of the events of his life, and in the coming and goings of those hardy care-free men of the north, no life could in any sense of the word be called regular.

It is not a literary masterpiece, rightly enough when it is considered that it is written by a man once a barber and then a frontiersman. But it is none the less interesting through its unvarnished description of men, women and the life that they lead.

Considerable interest also attaches to the fact that it is written about the period since the Great War which has seen annually almost miraculous new discoveries of wealth buried in what has been known as the "Frozen North."

Radium, silver, gold itself is being found continually, by just such men as Barker. It is a tale of present day doings, little different perhaps from the tales of earlier frontier days, but vital and thrilling to those whose veins runs the blood of adventurers, explorers and pioneers.

AUTHOR COMPARED WITH KIPLING

Remarkable Increase In Traffic

A literary critic reviewing in the London "Times" a volume of William Faulkner's short stories entitled, "Doctor Martino," compares the author with Kipling.

Comparison with Mr. Kipling, "this supreme master of the short story," is good enough for the most cautious reader of reviews.

Few more remarkable tributes have been paid to any modern writer, English, Scots, Irish, Welsh, or American, than this reviewer's praise of Mr. Faulkner's short stories.

"The poorest" of these fourteen tales, the London "Times" says, "would be riches to most of the successful short story writers of the day."

JOHN GALSWORTHY AND GARNETT

30 Years Of Letters

"Letters from John Galsworthy, 1900-1930," is one of the new books. These letters tell the story of a literary friendship between John Galsworthy and Mr. Edward Garnett. Mr. Garnett has added a few letters of his own, and has written an introduction giving his estimate of Galsworthy, the man and of Galsworthy's place in English literature.

scribing the joy of Sir Tristram and La Beale Isoud at their reunion, wrote "To let the joyes . . . there ys no maker can make hit nother no can thynke hit nother no penne can write hit nother no mouth can speke hit." That struck Caxton as "excessive," so he revised it: "There is no tonge can tellle it nor berte thynke hit nor pen white hit." Often there are pages and pages with scarcely a correction, and then Caxton reaches a paragraph he does not like and uses his pencil freely.

The evidence of this manuscript will clearly be of the highest importance to any future editor of Malory and the Warden and Fellow of Winchester College have arranged that it should be available for Professor Vinaver's use in the edition of the text of the "Morte d'Arthur" which he had in hand. The writer of this article is induced to ask for permission to publish this preliminary statement, and in particular to Sir Edward Garnett for the help he has given him.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS

We wish to notify our customers in Hong Kong and South China that we are reducing our prices on all kind of shoes.

From this date we are clearing our stock of 196, different style of shoes from

20% to 50%
OFF THE USUAL PRICES.

This is the only opportunity by which everyone can obtain the best kind of shoes at the lowest prices.

We hold the largest stock of shoes in Hong Kong and So. China. Our shipments from our factories in Europe arrive monthly and the goods received are in vogue for the next month.

We now have six branches in Hong Kong, Kowloon.

OUR MOTTO IS QUALITY, PRICE & SERVICE.

Select your shoes from the House of Satisfaction.

Raia

SHOE CO., LTD.

China Bldg., Tel. 27945. 224, Nathan Road, Tel. 51341.
195, Des Voeux Rd. C, Tel. 33227. 195, Shanghai Street.
192, Johnstone Road. 353, Shanghai Street.
Amoy and The Shamian, Canton.

The "Three Castles"
Virginia Cigarettes

"Famous for over fifty years"

W.D. & H.O. WILLS

BRISTOL & LONDON

A. S. WATSON & CO., LTD.
HONG KONG.

G. FALCONER & CO. (HONG KONG) LTD.
WATCHMAKERS, & JEWELLERS.
DIAMOND MERCHANTS.
Union Building (opposite G.P.O.).
Agents for:—ADMIRALTY CHARTS,
ROSS'S BINOCULARS and TELESCOPES,
KELVIN'S NAUTICAL INSTRUMENTS,
ENGLISH SILVERWARE, direct from Manufacturers,
High Class English Jewellery.

REDUCE WITH INKRETAN
A BIOLOGICAL PRODUCT IN TABLET FORM is STANDARDISED
made by the same factory, as

PROMONTA

THE WELL-KNOWN NERVE FOOD
Obtainable from all dispensaries and stores

Sole Agents:

BORNEMANN & CO.
Prince's Building Des Voeux Road, Central
HONGKONG

BAYVIEW MANSIONS TO LET

JUST COMPLETED 31 ATTRACTIVE MODERN STYLE FLATS ON CAUSEWAY BAY ROAD
FACING POLO GROUND. 4 LARGE, BRIGHT
AND AIRY ROOMS, HOT AND COLD WATER,
REFRIGERATORS AND GARAGE IF REQUIRED.
TRAMS AND BUSES STOP NEAR ENTRANCE.
HALF OF FLATS LET PRIOR TO COMPLETION.
For further particulars

Apply to

METROPOLITAN LAND COMPANY, LTD.
For Keys to Premises apply to: Asia Life Building,
No. 14, Bayview Mansions, 14, Queen's Road Central, Ground Floor. Tel. 26631.

GIFTS.

Photographs are not a gift you give to anyone—but they're the ideal gift for those you care about and those who care about you. And when you have them taken by King's Studio you've got a real gift, an artistic, beautifully finished picture that really does you justice.

We take portraits and enlarge all kinds of photos at the cheapest price. The best work you can never get in town.

KING'S STUDIO

相影星景

No. 10, Queen's Road C.
1st Floor of Wang Hing
Jeweller's Shop.

Manager: K. N. WAN

Tel. 26717

REAL NIGHTWEAR VALUE

OUR ECONOMY PYJAMAS

FOR THE COOLER NIGHTS

CEYLON FLANNEL

YOU CAN SNUGGLE DOWN TO WARM SLEEP IN THESE NEAT, ROOMY, COMFY
PYJAMAS. THESE SUITS WITH FLAT SMOOTHLY FIT-TING COLLARS ARE EX-TREMELY COMFORTABLE
HARD WEARING, WASHES EXCELLENTLY AND A

WONDERFUL VALUE AT OUR PRICE

$5.95 SUIT

ALL SIZES IN STOCK 36" TO 44"

Whiteaways
WHITEAWAY LAIDLAW & CO LTD

The China Mail

Hong Kong, Monday, Nov. 19, 1934.

Monetary Stability

The announcement that the United States Government will propose to the International Institute of Agriculture international monetary co-operation as a means of eliminating one of the principal motives for the imposition of trade barriers, prompts the question why the necessity of the action has not been realised more quickly. Great Britain, it will be remembered, at the World Economic Conference in June, 1933, proposed that the institution of monetary stability should be the principal aim of the conference. The proposal was quashed by the hostility of President Roosevelt. It has been recognised since, however, that too much blame could be attached to the United States for the stand that her President then assumed. As a London financial writer points out, the responsibility carried by the United States for the meagre results of the conference has probably been exaggerated, and "America's refusal of co-operation on currency was merely an outstanding example of the economic nationalism on which the conference came to grief." If President Roosevelt now considers that the time has arrived when the United States, without loss to herself, may ask the world to come to some arrangement whereby the values of currencies in terms of each other may fluctuate within the narrow limits of pre-war days, then it will be much to the advantage of the world to consider the proposition. President Roosevelt probably considers that experience has shown that devaluation of the American currency, carried out to the extent of almost 40 per cent since the world conference, has given American exports sufficient competitive advantage to warrant a seeking of stability in the international exchanges.

That a higher degree of prosperity can only return with the free flow of international trade is indisputable. If the blockage of that freedom is due primarily to fears of war, with the consequent consideration of the necessity of being self-contained if preparedness for conflict is to be maintained, a reply might be made that, until the fear of war can be eliminated, there is little use of advocating a policy which the majority holds would prevent self-containment. But the economic results of extreme nationalism themselves add to the fear of war, because they have so curtailed international trade that the struggle to obtain a to be altered without grave consequences. The stability is itself an argument for the benefits which would accrue were its extension possible to the world at large.

HERE, THERE and EVERWHERE

YOUNG HOOLIGANS

Mr. Walter Elliot's tolerance towards the Glasgow students who recently pelted him with eggs and tomatoes does not excuse this disgraceful exhibition of bad manners.

Apart from the insult offered to one who should have been an honour guest, this hooliganism is dangerous. It was in a students' rag that "Pussyfoot" Johnson lost an eye. One of these days there may be a fatal accident if these revivals of a more barbarous age are not stopped.

* * *

HE ONCE TOOK PART

Rectorial elections at Glasgow are always made the excuse for horse-play among the students themselves.

Mr. Elliot's patience with the offenders may have arisen from a recollection of his own prowess against his student political opponents.

Preparations are made for battle on election day by the accumulation of secret dumps of eggs, tomatoes and pease meal. The parties fight throughout the morning for control of a door which leads to the polling booth.

The air is thick with missiles as attack and counter-attack proceeds. Mr. Elliot himself played a prominent part in this warfare in his University days.

His attacks, however, were against the students and not guests of the University.

* * *

ODE TO A PIG

Twenty-five years ago Mr. Elliot was editor of the Glasgow University magazine. He wrote poems for that journal. Significantly the themes of nearly all of them were bucolic. They included odes to such inspiring subjects as pigs and butter.

Here is a specimen:

The pig is not a handsome creature,
And has not one redeeming feature;
Its eye is sensual and keen,
Its nose is mucous and obscene,
Its ears are large, and pink, and hairy,
Its body oblong, wobbly, glairy.
Alive, it is a loathsome beast,
But, dead, provides a toothsome feast.

Your Daily Smile!

Another good reason for the Roosevelt's Hawaiian cruise was that the White House was being house-cleaned.

Practice may not make a lawyer perfect, but it certainly will make him rich.

TRY IT
"Happiness," declaimed the philosopher, "is the pursuit of something, not the catching of it."

"Have you ever," interrupted the plain citizen, "chased the last car on a rainy night?"

Not Their Lingo
American Tourist (to Canadian Northwest Indian): "White man glad to see red man. White man hopes big chief is feeling top-hole this morning."

Indian (calling): "Hey, Jake; come here and listen to this bozo. He's great!"

HIGHWAY ROBBERY AT KOWLOON

Hikers Held Up Near Reservoir

POOR HAUL FOR BANDITS

Two Chinese hikers, members of a party of 13, were held up by armed robbers yesterday on Tai Po Road near 3½ mile post and robbed of their valuables including a silver watch and chain valued at $11.30.

The gunmen successfully escaped in the direction towards Shatin.

One of the victims of the robbery was a wireless operator, Wong Chau-pak, residing at No. 32, Shek Kip Mei Street, Shumshui-poo. The incident occurred at 2.30 p.m. but no report was made until an hour later.

No arrests have yet been made.

Sequences. The stability is itself an argument for the benefits which would accrue were its extension possible to the world at large.

YOUNG GERMANY IS TAKING TO AIR COUNTRY SWEPT BY GLIDING CRAZE

FOUR-WEEK COURSES

(By G. Ward Price)

Wasserkuppe, Frankfort.
Wir Toten Flieger Blieben Sieger
Durch Uns Allein.
Volk Fliegt Du Wieder und Du Wirst Siegen
Durch Dich Allein.

(In Our Own Strength We Flyers Won Through.
On Wings Like Ours Shall Germany Too).

Beginners' Course

The beginners start on a gentle slope. Each in turn is strapped into the pilot's seat of a "Zogling." Six of his companions hold on to the tail. Eight or ten run down the steep green slopes of the Wasserkuppe over broad valleys 2,000 feet below, golden with stubble and scattered with dark fir-woods and brightly painted cottages set amid fields blue with autumn "crocuses."

Here is the Mount Olympus of German airmen. This simple monument commemorates their flyers who fell in the Great War. Close beside it German boys who were not born till that war was over are learning to fly to-day, while the name of the Wasserkuppe is famous among airmen everywhere as the starting-place of the world's record gliding-flights.

From this height in Central Germany many a skilful pilot in what is really no more than a winged sugar-crate, without any engine to help him, recently reached Czechoslovakia, 235 miles away, in five and a half hours, and here hundreds of young Germans from May to November are daily learning to glide about the sky.

The course lasts four weeks. For a German it costs 150 marks, including board, lodging, and instruction. Foreigners can come for twice that amount ($25). They are made welcome. I am told they sometimes even have officers of our own Royal Air Force among the pupils here.

Best Place In World

It is certainly the best and cheapest place in the world to learn to glide, but those who want their certificate from the Wasserkuppe must be prepared to conform to German simplicity and discipline.

A collection of sheds on the bare top of this isolated hill houses the learners, sleeping from four to sixteen in a room. They eat like schoolboys at long tables in a dining-hall and live on the plainest fare. There are no distractions whatever, nor any town within miles. The Wasserkuppe has none of the amenities of a British flying club—but it does teach gliding.

The learners are of all ages. I saw a boy of fourteen who has made twenty-two glides already. I met a man of fifty-two, became enthusiastic because his son had.

All social grades are represented. The present contingent contains workmen, shopkeepers, officials, students, and Government officers all living together on terms of complete community. There are even four girls here among the pupils but female students are not encouraged.

Vigorous Exercise

From six in the morning until sunset these future German airmen are either out on the slopes doing glides or in the workshops receiving instruction. They make a minimum of three starts a day, but in between have to work at launching the machines, which is pretty vigorous exercise.

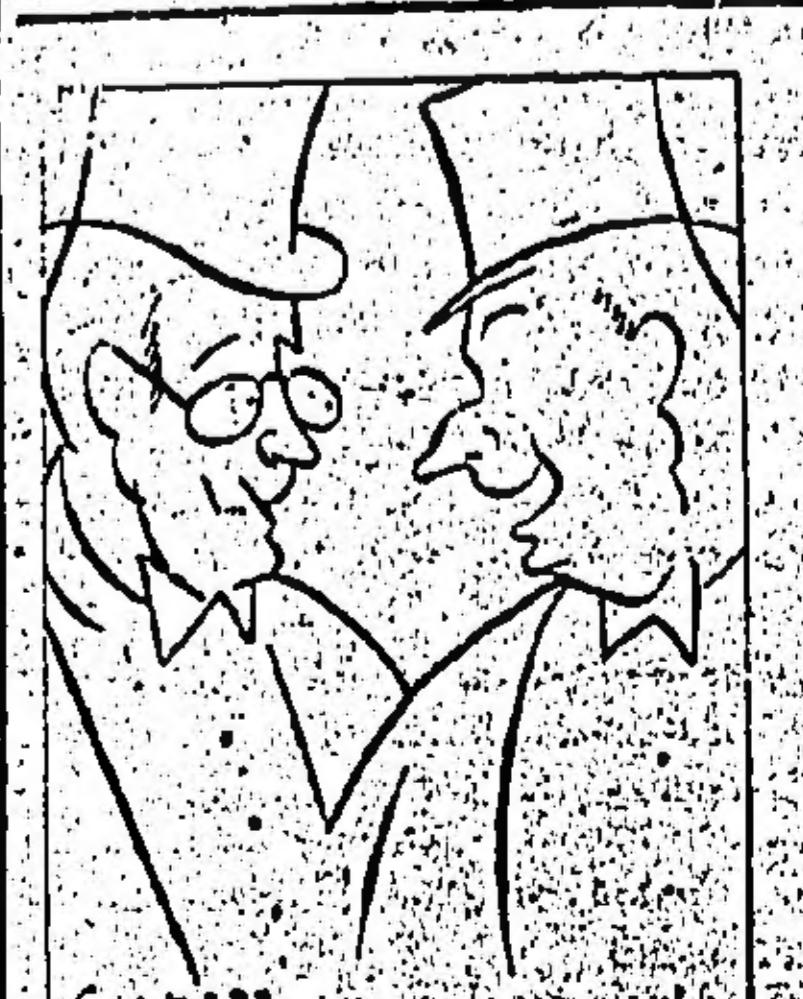

Two types of planes are employed:

1. The "Zogling," (or "Learn'er") model, which is really nothing but a winged toboggan and is used only for straight glides; and
2. The "Falke," a super-safety machine for longer soaring flights.

The cost of these two types is M.500 and M.1,200 respectively, or, at present exchange rate, $40 and $100.

Every glider is closely controlled by the German Air Ministry. It has to be examined twice before it is licensed, once as to the frame.

"So you are beginning a law suit. Don't you think that your counsel is very young?" "Don't worry. It's going to be a long case."

MERRIE ENGLAND

Latest Philharmonic Triumph

REMARKABLY HIGH STANDARD MAINTAINED

At their first public performance on Saturday evening the Philharmonic Society quickly captured the interest and approbation of the audience. While the Conductor and the Cast would themselves be the last to claim absolute perfection, it can be said with truth that the general level of attainment was remarkably high. Both principals and choristers did their work well, and the best solos and the best choruses were truly splendid.

The orchestra was surprisingly good, and bravely supported the choir. There were only a few occasions when the instrumentalists became over-prominent, and by a very little exceeded their true role of accompanists to the singers.

The female voices were fresher and better trained than the male voices, both in the chorus and among the principals. It has always been difficult in Hong Kong to secure first-class male voices, and pure tenors, particularly, are rarely come by.

Two Big Successes

The Philharmonic was lucky indeed to have the services of two amateur vocalists so competent as Mr. A. V. Sanders in the part of Essex (baritone) and Mr. E. J. Dyer as Sir Walter Raleigh (tenor). Both acquitted themselves right well.

The lady principals were thoroughly at home in their respective parts. Best known to local audiences, Mrs. A. M. Bowes-Smith delighted her hearers on every appearance, but most of all in "O who shall say that love is cruel," which she rendered with superb artistry. Mrs. Anderson Miller, also a highly-trained soprano, gave of her best all through, and found ample scope for her vocal dexterity in "She had, a letter from her love" and in "It is a tale of Robin Hood." The clearness of her enunciation was a treat.

Mrs. D. J. Valentine has a flexible contralto voice, and uses it well indeed. The part of "Jill All Alone," more perhaps than any other, needs costume and scenery for its interpretation, but Mrs. Valentine was very successful in giving the right expression, giving full value to the words as well as to the music.

In the part of Queen Elizabeth, Mrs. H. L. Lockhart rather lacked the regal manner, but sang very finely the Sovereign's motherly address to her people: "O Peaceful England," in which she received splendid support from the choristers, whose volume was finely modulated to suit the sense, and whose concluding words "And in thy slumber smile" were rendered with most artistic restraint.

Choral Work Excellent

Throughout the entire performance the choral work was very good, and in places was really superb. The grandeur of tone and volume in "The Yeomen of England," and the tender loveliness of "All on a summer night," where the voices softened to the sigh of a summer breeze, were beyond criticism, and reflect the greatest credit on both the singers themselves and on the conductor who trained them.

It was largely from financial considerations that the Society decided to abandon, at least for a time, the theatre stage for the concert platform, but the present venture has fully justified itself on musical grounds alone.

This Concert Version of "Merrie England" proved a (popular) success. The audience, which included His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel and Lady Peel, was generous with its applause, and demanded many encores.

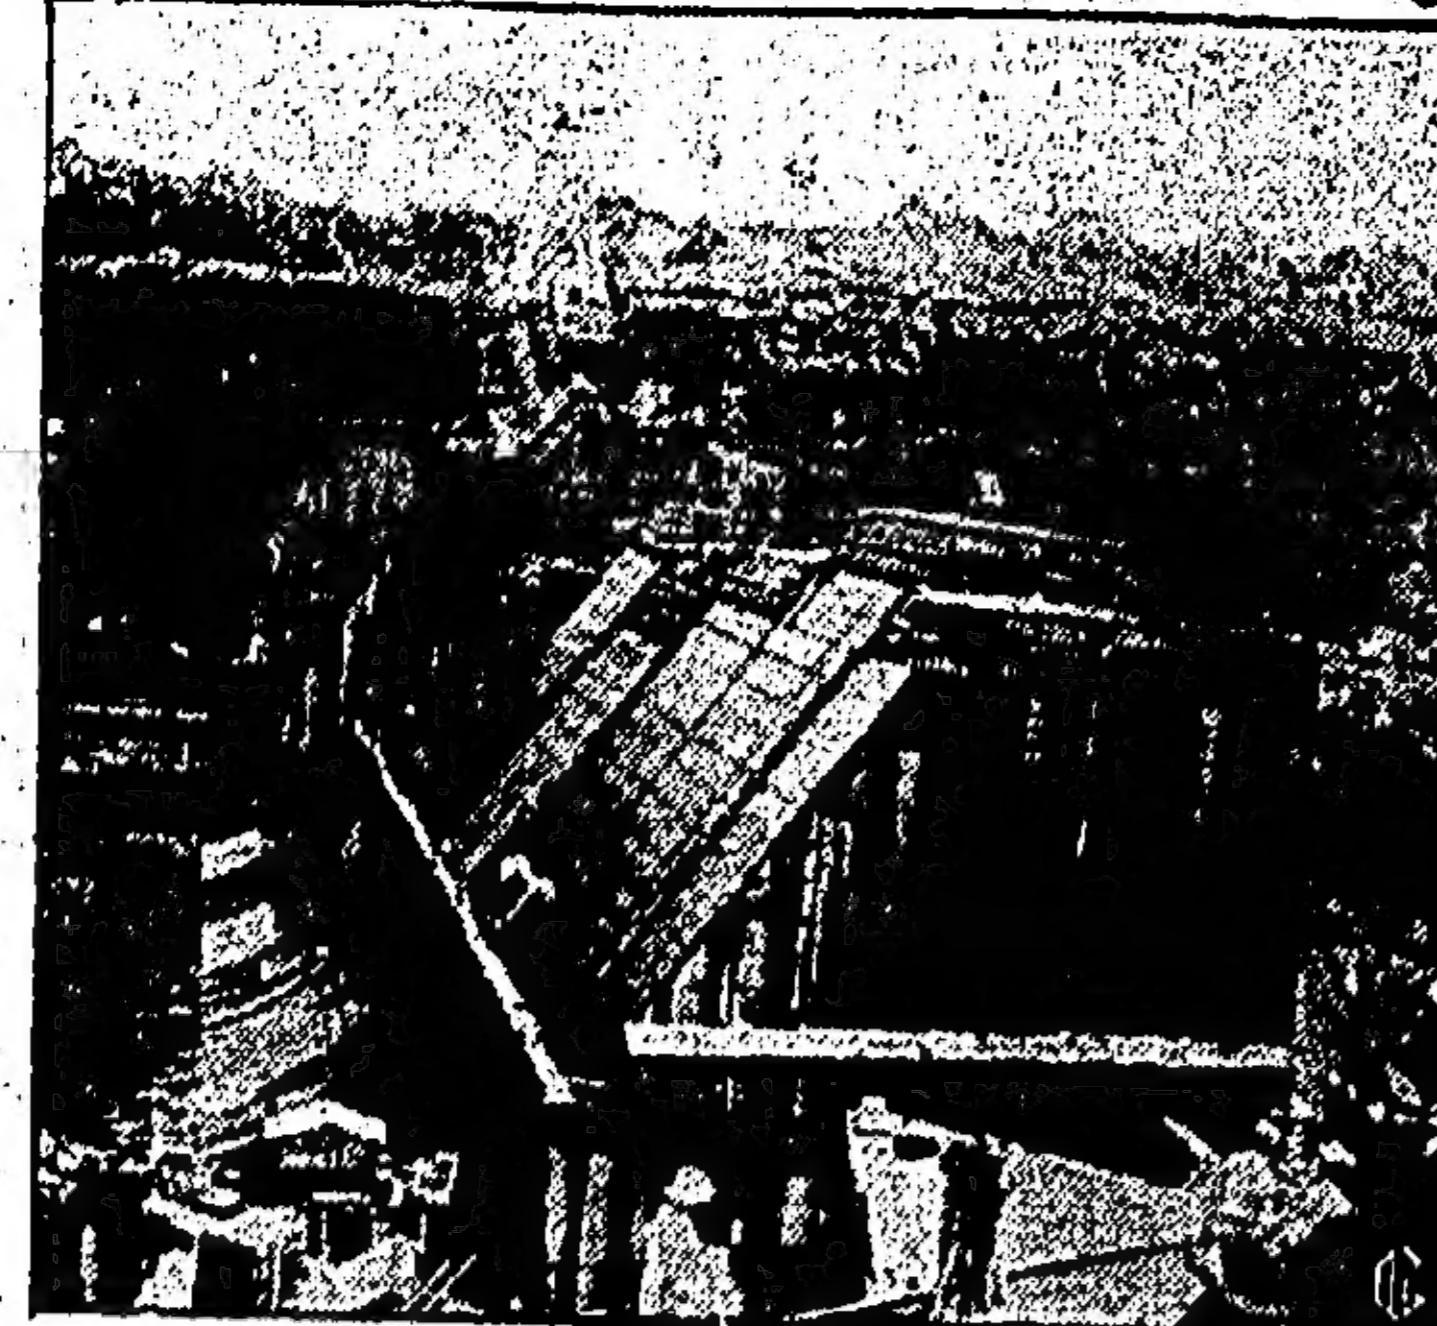

The Honorary Conductor, Mr. J. Anderson Miller, L.R.A.M., must be congratulated on the fine results attained, and none who participated in the performance can regret the sustained effort which the period of training always involves.

TENOR CLEF

The second and final concert will be produced at the China Fleet Club next Saturday night.

(Continued from Column 4).

Defendant pleaded that the inspector had had a grudge against him, but after the evidence of the inspector and the two conductors the defendant was convicted.

This exclusive photograph shows the progress made on the Madden dam, which is being constructed at the head waters of the Chagres river, in the Panama jungle by the United States Government. When completed the dam will impound the unruly Chagres several miles before it flows into Gatun lake, and control the alternate flood and low waters imperilling the Panama canal.

ARMY OFFICER IN COURT

Conflicting Evidence Raises Identity Doubt

MAGISTRATE TO VISIT CAR PARK IN KOWLOON

In answer to two summonses Captain Dunlop, of the Royal Artillery, Kowloon, appeared before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. He was summoned for failing to obey orders given by Patrolman F. L. Brown, of the Hong Kong Automobile Association, while in the Salisbury Road car park at 11.20 a.m. on October 31, and also for obstructing cars No. 1059, 2048 and 2675. To both summonses he pleaded not guilty.

When giving evidence, Patrolman Brown stated that he saw the defendant parking his car, No. 1118, in an unauthorised place, where there were no white lines marked, and so he went up and told the defendant that he was not supposed to park there. Defendant then said "Never mind, leave it where it is."

Owing to conflicting evidence, Mr. Hamilton suggested that there had been a mistake in identity, for Capt. Dunlop said that Brown was dressed in blue, while Brown said that he was in kakhi, and Capt. Dunlop said that he spoke to Brown on one side of the car park, while Brown said that it was on the other. Capt. Dunlop stated that after speaking to Brown, the latter had said "O.K.", and he thought that it meant that everything was alright. Brown admitted saying O.K., but he meant that if the defendant would not move his car then he could not force him. Mr. Hamilton agreed that Brown's explanation was correct.

The case was adjourned to Wednesday at 12 a.m., Mr. Hamilton saying that he would visit the place.

MEN WHO CANNOT STAY AWAY

Banishee Quartette Sent To Gaol

SUPREME COURT SITTING

Four Chinese banishees pleaded guilty to charges of returning from banishment, before Mr. P. Jacks, the Puisne Judge at the Criminal Sessions, Supreme Court, this morning. Sentences of three years' hard labour were imposed.

One prisoner, Kwong Yam, who was banished from the Colony in 1924 for 10 years for stealing, returned no less than four times during that period. On each occasion he returned to commit a further theft.

The other prisoners were: Wong Sang, banished in November 1933 for 10 years, and arrested in Hong Kong on October 4. His record showed that he had previously returned from banishment and had once been found in possession of arms. He was sentenced to prison for three years with hard labour.

Lok Ming, with three convictions for larceny in December 1931 and banished for 10 years, he was arrested on October 10 in Hong Kong. He was also sentenced to three years' hard labour. Lo Fai, alias Lo Tam, banished in May 1924 for 10 years. He re-

To-day's Short Story

The Creaking Gate

By W. Humphreys

PETER TYLOR sat inside his only four days ago," he rambled on, "the elbow o' me coat. My wrinkled, veiny hands closed, Mary did. My Mary that I remember resting on each knee, while her a-coming through the fields to meet me in the evenings when we was courting. Her hair then, George, was more golden than the beams that'll a-come shining through yon windows come six o'clock to-morrow morning and Farmer Boyle's pigs be having breakfus' As it were, a sight more golden." And he nodded with the most profound conviction.

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long moments there was the musing silence of the aged.

"Don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy," suddenly urged George. "Your Mary was a mortal good wife to you—ah, she were that!—and when we buried her this morning you lost your best pal; but don't let it weigh you down, Peter, boy."

For long

P. & O.-British India Apcar and Eastern & Australian Lines

(COMPANIES incorporated in ENGLAND).
MAIL AND PASSENGER STEAMERS.
TAKING CARGO FOR
STRAITS, JAVA, BURMA, CEYLON, INDIA, PERSIAN GULF, WEST INDIES, MAURITIUS, EAST AND SOUTH AFRICA,
AUSTRALASIA, INCLUDING NEW ZEALAND AND QUEENSLAND PORTS, AND RED SEA, EGYPT,
CONSTANTINOPLE, GREECE, LEVANTINE
PORTS, EUROPE, &c.
PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL FORTNIGHTLY
DIRECT ROYAL MAIL STEAMERS.
(Under Contract with H.M. Government.)

S.S.	Tons	From Hong Kong About	Destination.
			1934.
JEYPORE *BEHAR	5,300	18th Nov. 6,100 24th Nov.	S'pore, Penang, Colom, Bombay, Bombay, Marselles, Havre, London, Hamburg, Rotterdam, Antwerp & Hull.
CARTHAGE *SUDAN	15,000	1st Dec. 7,000 8th Dec.	Bombay, Marselles & London. Bombay, Marselles, Havre, London, Hamburg, Rotterdam, Antwerp & Hull.
RANIPURA CORFU *BURDWAN	17,000	15th Dec. 15,000 29th Dec. 6,000 5th Jan.	Bombay, Mars, Havre, London, H'burg, Rotterdam, Antwerp and Hull. DO
RANCHI NALDERA *SOMALI	17,000	12th Jan. 16,000 25th Jan. 7,000 2nd Feb.	Bombay, Mars, Havre, London, H'burg, Rotterdam, Antwerp and Hull. DO
RAWALPINDI RAJPUTANA *BANGALORE	17,000	9th Feb. 17,000 23rd Feb. 5,000 2nd Mar.	Bombay, Marselles, Havre, London, H'burg, Rotterdam, Antwerp and Hull. DO
CHITRAL CARTHAGE	15,000	9th Mar. 15,000 23rd Mar.	Marselles, Havre, London, H'burg, Rotterdam, Antwerp & Hull. DO

*Cargo only. +Calls Casablanca.
Frequent connection from Port Said for Passengers and Cargo to Constantinople, Piraeus, Smyrna and other Levant Ports by steamers of the Khedivial Mail Steamship Co.

BRITISH INDIA-APCAR SAILINGS.

		1934.
SIRDHANA	8,000	23rd Nov.	S'pore, Penang and Calcutta.
TAKADA	7,000	8th Dec.	DO
TILAWA	10,000	22nd Dec.	DO

• Calls Rangoon + Call Port Sweetenham

B.I. Apcar Line steamers have excellent accommodation for 1st and 2nd class passengers.

EASTERN & AUSTRALIAN SAILINGS (South).

		1934.
TANDA	7,000	30th Nov.	Manila, Rangoon, Brisbane, Sydney & Melbourne, and Hobart.
NANKIN	7,000	28th Dec.	DO
NELLORE	7,000	1st Feb.	DO

Regular monthly sailings from Hong Kong to Shanghai and Japan and Hong Kong to Australia. — 19 days.

AUSTRALIA & NEW ZEALAND for a cheap Holiday.
(Surfing, Fishing, Shooting, and Climates to suit all. Your English money is worth 25 per cent. more).

No Additional Charge for Deck Cabins. Sun Deck Swimming Pool.

Orchestra carried—Laundry—Barbers—Stewards.

E & A Cuisines and Services are unsurpassed.

Frequent connections from Australia with the following:—

The Union S.S. Company's steamers to the United Kingdom via New Zealand, Vancouver, San Francisco, etc.

The P. & O. Royal Mail Steamers to London and

The P. & O. Branch Service of steamers to London via Suez.

The New Zealand Shipping Company's steamers for Southampton and London via Panama Canal.

SAILINGS TO SHANGHAI & JAPAN.

		1934.
BURDWAN	6,000	25th Nov.	Shai, Kobe, and Yokohama.
TILAWA	10,000	29th Nov.	Shai, Kobe, Moji, Kobe, Osaka.
CORFU	14,000	30th Nov.	Shai, Kobe, and Yokohama.
NANKIN	7,000	2nd Dec.	Shai, Moji, Kobe, Osaka, Yoh.
SANTHIA	8,000	13th Dec.	Shai, Moji, Kobe, Osaka, Yoh.
RANCHI	17,000	14th Dec.	Shai, Kobe, and Yokohama.
TALMA	10,000	27th Dec.	Shai, Moji, Kobe, Osaka, Yoh.
*SOMALI	7,000	28th Dec.	Shai, Kobe, and Yokohama.
NALDERA	16,000	28th Dec.	Shai, Moji, Kobe and Yokohama.
NELLORE	7,000	3rd Jan.	Shai, Moji, Kobe, Osaka, Yokohama.
SIRDHANA	8,000	10th Jan.	Shai, Moji, Kobe, Osaka.
BAWALPINDI	17,000	11th Jan.	Shai, Kobe and Yokohama.
*BANGALORE	6,000	24th Jan.	DO

*Cargo only.

All dates are approximate and subject to alteration without notice.
All Cabins are fitted with Electric Fans or Punkah Louvre System.
Steamers on London and Australian Lines are fitted with Laundry.
Parcels measuring not more than 5 cu. ft. will be received at the Company's Office up to Noon on the day previous to sailing.
For further information, Passage Freight Handbook, etc., apply to MACKINNON MACKENZIE & CO.

P. & O. BUILDING, CONNELL ST., HONG KONG.

Ending three years of bickering between the two countries, the transfer of Soviet Russia's half-interest in the Chinese Eastern Railway to Manchukuo at an estimated price of U.S.$50,000,000 has been announced in Tokyo. The revelation of the sale came as a reign of bandit terrorism existed on the road. This picture shows the wrecked coach of a train on the Chinese Eastern line which was derailed by Manchurian bandits near Harbin. Several Japanese were killed.

The Creaking Gate

(Continued From Page 9).

The thin voice ceased, and the weary lungs recovered noisily, but his owner chuckled, exulting in his theory.

George rose and placed a hand on each of his friend's shoulders. "Pete, listen! You've got to turn your mind to something else. You must forget your Mary's gone—"

"She hasn't!" eagerly interrupted the old man. "I was beginning to think so, but when I heard that gate I knew different. There now, hark at that!" he said, as the creaking of the gate momentarily increased. "She's there!" he cried. "Waiting for me because she can't go no further without me."

"No, no, Peter," said George, gently. "It's only the win."

"He must be a dunderhead!" burst out old Peter. Then, quaveringly, "It's not the act of a friend to tell an old man like me lies. I'm surprised at you," he faltered, reproachfully.

"All right, Peter, all right," soothed George. "Have it your way then. And now I think I'll go home. I'm tired."

"That's right; go home to bed," counseled old Peter. "And mind Farmer Boyles's path. A mortal bad path! Ought to have a new 'un, and so I told him, and to his face too, three weeks come next—Hark to that gate!" He broke off to listen with such rapture that he trembled in his chair. George looked at him doubtfully. "I don't like leaving you, Peter," he said.

"Can't do nothing for me," absently replied the old man, his attention focussed on the creaking gate. "Mary's only at the gate. I knew she wouldn't go far without me. You can go, George. I'll be all right listening to that gate."

"Very well, Peter, but I'll make up the fire first," said George.

Having performed this friendly office, he lingered awhile, then left the cottage.

OLD Peter started gravely at the fire; then shook his head.

"Fancy him thinking it was the wind shaking that gate," he muttered. "His mind's not as sharp as it used to be. It's old age talkin' on him, just as it does on everyone at last—except me!" he said loudly, and glanced round in tremulous defiance.

The flames of the fire leaped higher, and he snuggled cosily into his chair. His head drooped.

"Feel tired," he mumbled, half asleep. "Going to drop off."

Some ash flaked into the fire; otherwise the cottage was very quiet.

Slowly, old Peter awoke. The creaking of the gate was now loud and seemed, to him, an incomparable melody, alluring, calling with a beautiful insistence.

"I'll have to go," he thought. Immediately there was a spiritual upheaval and an inner urgent clamouring. "No! No!" and he faltered, but the creaking of the gate rose to a siren tune of weird and compelling bewitchment that defied the other clamouring.

He stood up, and with his strides crossed the room and en-

CHURCH AND STATE RELATIONSHIP

BISHOP OF NORWICH ON RISK OF SEPARATION

HISTORIC EFFICIENCY

The Bishop of Norwich (Dr. Pollock), preaching at Holy Trinity, Brompton, at a service commemorating the third anniversary of the death of Prebendary Gough, formerly Vicar of Brompton, said that Prebendary Gough was a patriot to the very core.

"He was not a frothy demagogue who forgot the sacred ministry to which he was called," added Dr. Pollock. "It was rather that he was always conscious that he was the citizen of no mean city, and desired that his fellow citizens should not make light of their great heritage."

"He was rewarded by the admiring confidence which his friends reposed in his leadership."

It would be a sad day if the Church of England were to sacrifice its splendid privilege of service by withdrawing itself into itself and by winning a greater precision of self-government at the cost of weakening its national position and its unique calling to make Christians of all the people and, so far as lay in its power, to see that "this is a Christian land."

Historic Efficiency.

"Let us hope," he said, "that the Commission of the Church Assembly, which is now examining the relation of the Church to the State, will recommend no step which could impair, for one side or the other, the historic efficiency of their present connection."

The Apollo is the last of the three cruisers of the 1932 construction programme to take the water, the Galatea having gone afoul at the Scotts' yard, Greenock, on August 9, and the Sydney at that of Swan, Hunter and Wigham Richardson, Wallsend-on-Tyne, on September 22.

She will be the eighth ship of the Leander class, built in accordance with the London Treaty, of 7,000 tons 32½ knot speed, and an armament of eight 6in. guns.

Served As Hospital Ship.

The name of Apollo came into the Royal Navy by the capture of the French 30-gun East India man-of-war in 1747. She was renamed Apollo and served as a hospital-ship under Boscombe in the East Indies. In the second Apollo (originally called "the Glory"), Goucier, author of "The Shipwreck," served as a purser.

She served in various actions of the war of American independence. There followed a succession of 38-gun frigates of the name, launched in 1794, 1800, and 1805, all of which served in action during the Napoleonic wars. Later ships were in the first China war of 1842 and the Russian war. The last Apollo was a second-class protected cruiser launched at Chatham in 1891. In common with others of her class she was converted into a minelayer and served as such during the first part of the War.

According to statistics issued by the Ministry of War, during the last war more than 20,000,000 people travelled on Government's ships, mostly during the First World War.

China is gradually educating her millions.

China is gradually educating her millions to the advantages of travel in her railways.

According to statistics issued by the Ministry of War, during the last war more than 20,000,000 people travelled on Government's ships, mostly during the First World War.

China is gradually educating her millions to the advantages of travel in her railways.

China is gradually educating her millions to the advantages of travel in her railways.

PRESIDENT LINER TRAVEL SERVICE

makes Traveling Effortless

President Liner's frequent sailings and their unique stopovers privileges allow you to travel just exactly as you choose. And Dollar Steamship Lines and American Mail Line worldwide offices and agents are maintained to serve you where in whatever place you chance to be. Make your next trip more enjoyable, travelling "the President Liner way."

SAN FRANCISCO, NEW YORK THE SUNSHINE ROUTE 18 Days

To San Francisco Via Shanghai, Kobe, Yokohama and Honolulu.

Fortnightly sailings:

Pres. Lincoln ... Nov. 20, Midnight
Pres. Hoover ... Dec. 1, Noon
Pres. Cleveland ... Dec. 18, Midnight
Pres. Coolidge ... Dec. 29, 9.00 a.m.
Pres. Taft ... Jan. 15, Midnight
Pres. McKinley ... Jan. 16,

EUROPE, NEW YORK

Inquire for round-trip tickets to Europe in connection with Lloyd Triestino Via Manila, Singapore, Colombo, Bombay, Suez and the Mediterranean.

Fortnightly sailings:

Pres. Garfield ... Nov. 24, 8 a.m.
Pres. Polk ... Dec. 8, 8 a.m.
Pres. Adams ... Dec. 22, 8 a.m.
Pres. Harrison ... Jan. 5, 8 a.m.
Pres. Hayes ... Jan. 19, 8 a.m.

MANILA

THE MOST FREQUENT

SERVICE

